INTERNATIONAL VOLUNTEER PROJECTS

OUTLINE

CIEE Japan was registered as a partner organization of the Alliance of European Voluntary Service Organizations in 1995. CIEE Japan has been offering programs and services for the young people who are 18 years old and older.. Each year CIEE Japan organizes international work camps in Japan. Work camps enable people to experience the joy of working and cooperating with new friends from overseas These camps are sponsored by each local organization such as welfare centers, universities, individuals and so on. CIEE Japan International Work camps offer the participants practical tasks which benefit the local community as well as Japanese cultural experiences. These camps are basically held between July and the beginning of September when most of Japanese students have their summer vacation.

LANGUAGE

Although the language used among international volunteers and leaders is English, some projects in Japan involve quite a lot of local volunteers, especially when it is run jointly with their regular activity/camp. Not like some other countries, it is not so easy to find English-speaking environment in Japan. Thusly, it will be much better if the volunteers at least try to communicate in Japanese with these local people. Special requirement. In some projects as shown in the project details, basic conversational ability in Japanese is required.

LEADER

A Japanese leader who has participated in work camps overseas will act as a coordinator/advisor of International volunteers and local host-organization as well as a contact person of CIEE.

INSURANCE

During the camp, YOU ARE NOT INSURED AGAINST ANY RISKS BY CIEE JAPAN or BY HOST ORGANIZATIONS. The participants from overseas must be insured by themselves covering the whole period of his /her travel.

TRAVEL

Each volunteer is responsible for arranging their transportation to/from the meeting point of the camp at their expenses.
